

Career Removals

When a lawyer is removed from his job, he is disbarred. A priest is defrocked. What about some other careers:

Do electricians get delighted, cowboys deranged, musicians denoted, models deposed, engineers reversed and judges distorted?

Are mediums dispirited, Far East diplomats disoriented, office workers defiled, bankers disinterested, politicians devoted and wine merchants deported?

Is a baker unrolled, a teacher degraded, a songwriter decomposed, a podiatrist defeated, a printer depressed, a maestro disconcerted, a detective dissolved and a florist deflowered?

Are arborists exfoliated, bankers debited, bicyclists derided, body builders detoned, bomb specialists defused, bridge players discarded, butchers deboned, car mechanics detuned, cavalrymen dismounted, chemists dissolved, conductors mislead, dentists extracted, detectives debunked, flight attendants deplaned, magnetic personalities degaussed, mathematicians derived, park rangers denatured, piano adjusters detuned, quality specialists decertified, radio personalities demodulated, software engineers deprogrammed, tree surgeons debarked?

card dealers shuffled off, construction workers demolished, dry cleaners depressed, gigolos deloused, highway planners rerouted, lexicographers undefined, paralegals deposed, predators declawed, prostitutes unhooked, scofflaws defined